Honouring Our Heritage, Excelling our Future – Harrow 450 Service of Refoundation

St. Pauls' Cathedral in England is filled with songs of praise. This is not a scene from Harry Potter – it is Harrow's momentous 450th-anniversary ceremony held on 11 February, marking the start of our worldwide celebrations.

The Service recreated the historic moment when John Lyon was granted a sealed RoyalCharter by Queen Elizabeth I. Each representative of an AISL Harrow School received a seal which is attached to the Queen Elizabeth I charter, symbolising the Harrow values and heritage to be passed on and flourish across the world.

Don't miss these highlights of the special day!
